Change comes in many forms...

- The CJCS Joint Training Master Plan and The CJCS Joint Training Policy documents have been combined to form this instruction. CJCS Joint Training Guidance will be issued annually.
- Training Transformation guidance is restated within the context of JTS policy and guidance.
- Authority for Joint Training Policy clarified for Reserve components through Training and Readiness Oversight (TRO)
- Joint Operating Concepts discussions introduced to frame future joint operations concepts
- Changes introduced to types, levels and categories of joint training to more clearly reflect real world operations

Joint Training Vision and T2

Joint Training Vision

Everyone required to conduct military operations will be trained, under realistic conditions and to exacting standards, prior to execution of those operations. People selected for joint assignments will be trained prior to reaching their duty location.

T2 Objectives

- Strengthen joint operations by preparing forces for new warfighting concepts
- Continuously improve joint force readiness by aligning joint education and training capabilities and resources with combatant command needs
- Develop individuals and organizations that intuitively think jointly
- Develop individuals and organizations that improvise and adapt to emerging crises
- Achieve unity of effort from a diversity of means

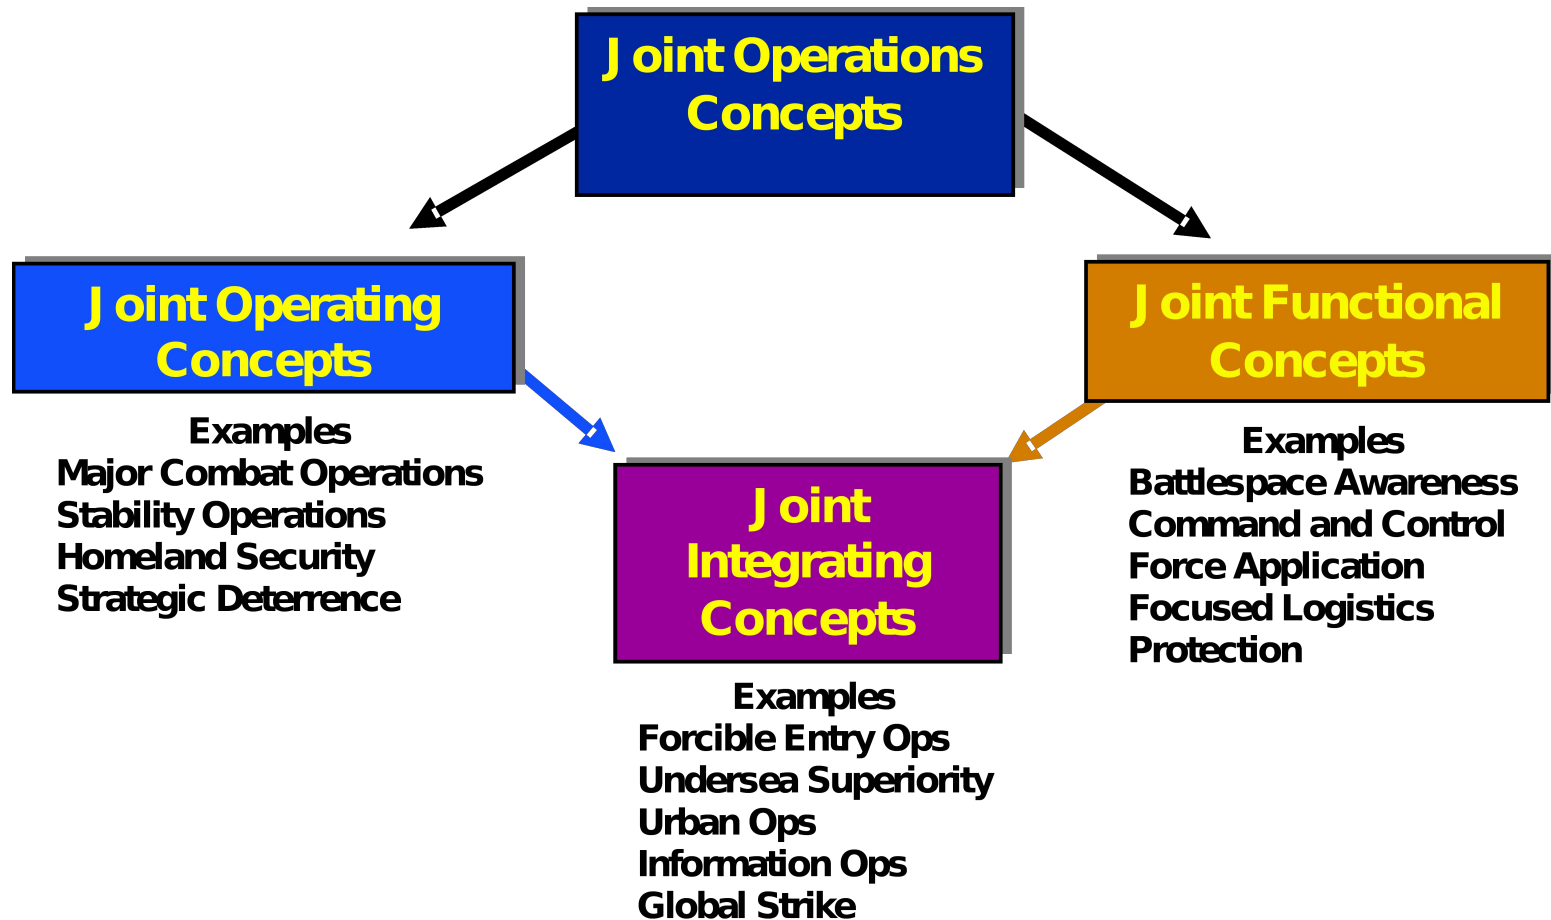

Prepared for joint duty on and off the battlefield

Training and Readiness Oversight of the Reserve Components

- Training Readiness Oversight (TRO) is the authority combatant Commanders exercise over assigned Reserve components (RC)-- normally exercised through their Service component commanders
- USJFCOM has a unique mission to provide TRO to appropriate RC CONUS based units
- TRO is an Enabling tool to enhance RC readiness with the objective of seamless integration of RC forces into joint organizations and RC augmentees onto combatant command battle staffs and JTF staffs
- Combatant Commanders and USJFCOM use TRO to influence the joint training and readiness of RC forces assigned to include:
 - Guidance to Service component commanders on operational requirements and priorities in training and readiness programs
 - Comment on Service component budget requests
 - Obtain and review readiness and inspection report on assigned RC forces
 - Coord and review mobilization plans on assigned RC forces

Joint Operations Concepts (JOpsC)

Types, Levels, and Categories of Joint Training

- Types - Individual / Staff / Collective
- Levels - Senior Officer / Staff / Force Employment - Staff and Force Employment have an individual and collective dimension
- Categories - Service / Interoperability / Joint - In each of these three categories, interagency and multinational training can take place

Joint Training - forces of two or more Military Departments interacting with a combatant commanders or subordinate joint force commander; involves joint forces and/or joint staffs; and/or individuals preparing to serve on a joint staff or in joint organization and is conducted using joint doctrine

Notable Adjustments

- Joint Training Cycle - the timelines associated with the JTS are due to restrictions and requirements of the resource scheduling process...not the JELC...joint exercises are one of many methods of joint training
- Beginning in FY 05:
 - COCOM/CSA link development of J/AMETS to operational plans, TSCP, and Pres/SECDEF directives
 - Integrate Service component/CSA J/AMETS with Joint Force Commanders JMETS
 - JNTC events and JKDDC will be based on COCOM, Service, CSA common J/AMETS; events scenario-based to those most likely to occur
 - USJFCOM Annual Assessment of assigned force readiness to perform COCOM common JMETS to established standards

SUMMARY

- CJCSI 3500.01C, Joint Training Policy and Guidance for the Armed Forces of the United States should be on the street in October
- Changes discussed were highlights not the whole menu
- The Joint Training Vision is embedded in Training Transformation
